Profile

I'm a Graphic Artist and Illustrator working in the Los Angeles commercial production, design and animation industries since 2003.

Experience

Freelance digital artist specializing in the motion graphics and animation fields. Over the years I've worked on hundreds of commercials and promos as well as many video games and a few features and have managed to develop a flexible and versatile approach that covers a wide range of illustrative styles.

I specialize in storyboards and color scripts, however my work frequently extends into the areas of concept art, look development, character design, typography, graphic design and architectural design.
